

Recap

First and foremost, I would personally like to ensure everyone in our email database that Clark Brothers Investments is fully open for business. We have great people surrounding us at Clark Bros., and at our campaign headquarters.

Review

There are still numerous investment opportunities in the stock market as well as residential and commercial real estate. This is still America, and the opportunities for wealth creation for the average American citizen have never been greater!

The Clark Bros. Get Invested. Stay Invested email database will soon be updated to reflect the Jason R. Clark (Independent) for Governor of Colorado campaign. Your patience, understanding, and support is greatly appreciated.

Due to literally thousands of requests, I have decided to send out the most recent video clips for my campaign to be the first Independent Governor of Colorado. The story is actually pretty cool. About a week ago, I decided to post an ad on craigslist for a Lt Governor. Within a few days, Adam Schrager, an NBC political reporter and host of the very popular YOUR SHOW, emailed me asking me to be on the show (first media clip). Within 24 hours of the show the craigslist ad went "viral" on the internet - everybody had it posted on their site - every newspaper, tv, radio, and internet blog all across Colorado and all over the country! Soon after this people from political blogs throughout America started calling and emailing me requesting an interview. Then, Jay Leno made a joke about it on the Tonight Show! (second media clip). The next day, MSNBC emailed me asking for a live interview with Contessa Brewer (third media clip). Note: I got bumped by President Obama talking with Af ghanistan President Karzai the first time, and had to come back the following day. All other media coverage of this story can be found on my web site, www.jasonclarkforgovernor.com - to include USA Today and the Associated Press. Needless to say, it all has been a bit overwhelming, but I am speaking from my heart, so that is my saving grace. Ok, that's the story, and here are the links!
