The Canadian lumber tariff is back on and the “cheap” wood is across the border. The SPF numbers got a little bump up with futures up $10 both Wednesday and Thursday. Some insurance buyers were in the markets buying a little wood knowing there will be little mill wood available the next two weeks. Also the feeling of the bottom of the near term market had been reached. Studs sold better at the end of the week. Western plywood had a good sales week and bumped prices up. OSB sales were better this week with buyers filling holes in inventories. Due to some holiday and vacations schedules the brief for 7/9 will be sent 7/12. Have a safe and happy 4th of July weekend.
